Local Graphic Design Studio Produces Logo for the Solano County Office of Education.

The Solano County Office of Education (SCOE) approved a new logo design for all its printed materials and website. The new design reflects the SCOE principle that a quality education will help students reach for and become stars.

Solano County has 6 unified school districts with over 73,000 students from kindergarten to grade 12, and SCOE serves another 5,000. A community college, maritime academy, and several university extension programs serve about 15,000 adults. Emphasis is on enhancing teacher and student achievement through a wide variety of programs.

Among its varied responsibilities, SCOE provides educational services to Solano County students that are incarcerated, on probation, or expelled; have special needs; or are seeking career and occupational training. SCOE also promotes positive and healthy youth development through its prevention education services and annual events recognizing student achievement such as the Academic Decathlon, Spelling Bee, and Art Faire. In addition, school districts within the county receive personnel, fingerprinting, and credentialing services; financial advisory, accounting, auditing, data gathering, and report filing services; and staff professional development.

Work began in June of 2001 when Garson Design Services was contacted about creating a logo for SCOE that would communicate its educational mission and commitment to provide the highest quality education for every Solano County student. Approximately a dozen different designs were presented, with the selected one (shown) as the overwhelming favorite.
